The same kernel [-1, 0, 1] slides one position at a time

At each position: select three values → multiply element by element → add the three products.